

Birth Control Consultant Begins Jersey Jail Term

FREEHOLD, N. J., Oct. 28 (UPI) — William R. Baird, a birth control consultant, was jailed today after refusing to pay a $100 fine for violating a law barring dissemination of birth control information.

He was taken to Monmouth County jail after Judge Edward J. Ascher upheld his conviction and fine in Municipal Court. Each day in jail will cut $5 from the fine.

Nine men and women from the parents Aid Society of Hempstead, L. I., and a newly formed group called Citizens for Baird, picketed the Hall of Records here for 1½ hours in protest.

The New York Times

Copyright © The New York Times
Originally published October 29, 1966